PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 5, 1833.

By an advertisement, in another column of our paper, it will be seen that Mr. Sutton, the Ventriloquist, will give some exhibitions of his singular art, this evening, at Concert Hall.—Judging from a few specimens of his ability, which we witnessed, on Saturday evening, we would venture to promise an agreeable evening to ladies and gentlemen who may attend.

In another part of our paper, we have published an interesting extract from Richerand's Physiology on this subject.

THE WARREN CONVENTION.—We publish, to day, the Mayor's call of a meeting, at the Court House, on Saturday next, at 10 o'clock, A. M.; the time being the same as that appointed in anonymous call which first appeared in the Pittsburgh Mercury, of Friday last, and republished in this paper on Saturday. This meeting is called for the purpose of appointing delegates to the Convention at Warren, and to do such other matters as may be necessary and proper, in relation to the connection of the Pennsylvania and Ohio Canals.—The proposed work is one of the first importance to our city and State; and we trust our citizens will evince their sense of its value, by a general attendance at the hour appointed. We trust that, in the selection of delegates, our citizens will be actuated only by a desire to promote the prosperity of the State; that mere party feelings will not be permitted to enter into, or, in the slightest degree, influence the deltberations of the meeting. We sincerely pray that the purest counsels may prevail and influence the meeting, and that the best and fittest men may be selected to represent our city and county.

THE UNION AND HARMONY PARTY.—Our neighbor Johns' blood is up, and he pounces down upon the Mercury, in his paper of this morning, most severely.—He reminds the editor that his father holds a valuable office under Gov. Wolf, and then adds—

"Mr. Snowden, while dipping his pen in gall, to vent at Mr. M'Kean, should reflect that gratitude, at least, ought to stay his torrent of calumny.—His veteran parent holds a lucrative office under the state administration; and yet the organ of the family lavishes, on the Governor's chief officer and counsellor, a continuous stream of abuse."

In another paragraph, we find the following sentences—

"The Mercury asserts that Mr. M'Kean is disliked by a large portion of the party of which he is a member." We ask the Mercury to be precise in designating this "portion" of the party. Who are they—and what potent spell produced their antipathy? We ask, have there not been attempts repeatedly made by an affiliated band of partisans in this city to enlist the party in an opposition to Mr. M'Kean—and have not those attempts met with chilling indifference and contempt? Has not this band of disaffected and disorganized politicians pursued Mr. M'Kean with a virulence hitherto unsurpassed—and has he not outlived their animosity, and secured the unshaken esteem of the majority? Let the Mercury reply to our questions."

☞REBECCA UPDEGRAFF, (of the Society of Friends,) will preach this evening, (Tuesday) in the Methodist Church, Liberty street, at early candle light.

PUBLIC MEETING.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Nov. 4, 1833.

In pursuance of the following request, a Public Meeting of the citizens of Pittsburgh and county of Allegheny, will be holden at the Court House, on the 9th day of November, 1833, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

SAMUEL PETTIGREW,
Mayor City of Pittsburgh.

To Samuel Pettigrew, Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh.

SIR—The undersigned respectfully request that a general meeting of the City and County be called, under your sanction, to consider the expediency of appointing delegates to the Convention to be held at Warren, Ohio, on the 13th inst., in reference to the communication between the Pennsylvania and Ohio Canals. It is suggested that the Meeting be called for Saturday, the 9th inst., at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the court house, in the city of Pittsburgh.

Respectfully,

LATEST FROM GIBRALTAR.

The Journal of Commerce, of Nov. 1, contains the following:

We have received Gibraltar papers to Sept. 10th, inclusive.

An order was issued, on the 4th, directing that all vessels arriving from any port or place in Spain, between Gibraltar and the frontier of Portugal, excepting Cadiz, Tarifa, and Algeciras, should be obliged, forthwith, to quit the Port, Roadsted, and Anchorage Ground of Gibraltar; that vessels arriving from Cadiz and Tarifa should be subjected to a Quarantine of Observation, of seven days.—These regulations were introduced on account of the Cholera in Spain.

The Gibraltar Chronicle, of the 7th, says: "The Temistocle, in two days from Faro, reports that the province of Algarve continues a prey to the most cruel civil war, no quarter being given by either of the contending parties, and the want of security, all along the coast, except in the above mentioned town, being such that the natives regularly betake themselves to their vessels or boats during the night. At Faro, there were 700 troops, mostly foreigners, and about 1,000 were expected from Lisbon. A corps of 3,000 inhabitants had also been formed for the protection of the place, and to make sorties against the enemy, i. e. against the Miguelites.

A Small Family.—The Gazette Medicale informs us that a certain prolific lady, somewhere in Bess Arabia, produced six living daughters at a birth; and most of the foreign journals repeat the story as being litter-ally true.

From the New York Spectator.

AMERICAN TREATY WITH SIAM.

We subjoin an article from the Singapore Chronicle, of the 6th of June, which contains, we believe, the only provisions of the treaty between our government and that of Siam, recently negotiated by Mr. Roberts, that have transpired.—In fact it gives, we have reason to believe, all the information respecting it, which the public can be anxious to know. The writer was a correspondent of the Chronicle—residing on the spot where the treaty was made—and evidently well acquainted with the whole matter. From his account of it, it is but too evident that our Diplomatic Agent was out generalled by the Siamese Minister, or Praklang, especially in relation to the personal responsibility of debtors; and the consolation with which he is said to have hushed his regrets, does not seem to be very adequate to repair the obvious error he committed.

"The American sloop of war, Peacock, Captain D. Geisenger, arrived at the Bar about the latter part of February last, having on board Edmund Roberts, Esq., as Envoy from President Jackson to Cochin China and Siam. Previous to the vessel's arrival at Siam, the Embassy had been at one of the out ports of Cochin China, but could accomplish nothing. They were, however, well received in Siam; two large war boats were sent outside the bar, to bring Mr. Roberts to Bankok, the Peacock being too deep to pass over it. The party that came up consisted of eleven persons: Mr. Roberts, Capt. Geisenger, the Doctor, Mr. Morrison, jr., of Canton, as Private Secretary and Chinese translator, two or three Lieutenants, and the residue Midshipmen. They occupied one side of the factory built for foreigners.

Mr. Roberts had his letter from the President of the United States to the King of Siam: it was open, and having no large seal on it, the Siamese could scarcely believe it to be a genuine letter from the President; but the Peacock laying outside the bar with 200 white men on board was a reality, therefore all must be real.

Mr. Roberts proposed to form a Treaty of friendship and commerce, to which the Siamese made no objections—he endeavored, however, to make a more advantageous one than the English did, but that, the Siamese said, could not be done; they would allow the Americans to trade on the same footing as the English, but more could not be granted. After some delay and trouble, a Treaty was drawn up, after the Siamese fashion; but then the fight for alterations, amendments, &c. Mr. Roberts had an audience of his Majesty, and only one. The Treaty is written in the Chinese, Siamese, and Portugese languages, and commences in the same style as the English one, with "Somdet Phra Puttie Chan Ya Hua," &c., which is translated in the Treaty—"the Great and Magnificent King," instead of the literal godlike titles which are alike applied to their God and their King. Mr. Roberts was very anxious to obtain the Treaty signed in duplicate, in order to forward one copy to the United States from Batavia, or elsewhere, and after having gone to the trouble of drawing three copies, the foolish old Praklang could not be induced to sign the duplicate, being fearful, it is presumed, that Mr. Roberts only wanted to sell the duplicate to another State! so that Mr. Roberts went away with only one copy sealed. The Praklang was reasoned with, and told that were he to sign a hundred copies, no harm could befall the country; all being of the same tenor and date; but it was of no avail.

The presents given by Mr. Roberts did not produce the desired effect, though valuable in themselves. Indeed, to a Court, like Siam, they were rendered in some sense valueless, through their ignorance. The presents to the King consisted of a pair or two of beautiful watches, set with pearls of some value, some silver baskets, and abundance of China Silks.—To the Praklang also, Mr. Roberts gave presents to a good amount, but he did not visit any of the inferior Princes. The amount of the presents might be about 2,000 to 2,500 dollars, while the returns consisted of a little sugar, sticlac, pepper, tin, gambouge, benjamin, Anguella wood, Sapan wood, and inferior Cardamons,—the whole of which might be worth 1,000 or 1,100 dollars. The Siamese knew the presents were bought in China, which did not please them much, and, it is said that, at one time they were not disposed to accept them. The original presents intended for the Cochin Chinese and Siamese Courts were sent out from America in a separate vessel, but she had not arrived in China ere the Peacock left. But this the Siamese would not credit.

Mr. Roberts inserted one article in the Treaty, to the effect that if a citizen of the United States contracted debts in Siam, and was unable to pay them, 'the creditors were to take whatever he possessed, and then to discharge him;—they are not to detain a citizen in Siam contrary to his inclination,—or something to that effect. This the Siamese agreed to, provided a similar clause was inserted in their favor, and the article, at present, stands thus: 'If a Siamese buy from a citizen of the United States, or owes him money, he must pay the citizen, if he possesses the means; but if he has not, the citizen is to take what he has got, and give him a discharge.' The same with respect to the citizen of the United States.

This is liberty and bankrupt law with a vengeance. It is to be regretted that such a clause was inserted at all, for, from the manner of transacting commercial business at Bankok, it is almost impossible for the foreign merchant to get into debt with the Siamese. The former is obliged to sell his goods, generally on a credit; but not so the Siamese merchant, his produce. If, therefore, a Siamese dealer be inclined to take advantage of the above article, he may purchase goods from a foreign merchant, pay his former debts, and if there be any residue, hand it over to the merchant, who by the Treaty is bound to give him a discharge! This was explained to Mr. Roberts, and, when too late, he endeavored to cancel the clause altogether; but the Siamese would not yom (consent.) Mr. Roberts consoled himself, however, by saying that another article, inserted in the Treaty counteracts the above, which states that the Americans are to enjoy the same privileges as are granted to the most favored nations, and that if a Consul be allowed to reside at Bankok, from any European nation, excepting the Portuguese, the Americans will be permitted to have one also.

Mr. Roberts was desirous of inserting in the Treaty, a clause by which liberty should be granted to send a Consul; but the Praklang would not consent, though the King is said to have told him to agree to it. The Praklang informed Mr. Roberts that Captain Burney had asked permission for an English Consul to reside at Bankok, but was refused. How far the signification of the phrase "most favored nations"—extends, is a matter of inquiry; it may be applicable only with regard to any alteration in duties, though the article regarding debts would still continue in effect.

The Peacock left the Bar of Siam for Singapore, on the 6th of April, after having remained upwards of forty days.

The steam packet, Royal William, which sailed from Quebec for London, the early part of August, via Pictou, made her passage from the latter port in nineteen days, two of which she was detained in making some alterations in her machinery.

The productive power of Great Britain and the United States, with the aid of machinery, is equal to that of the whole human race without it.—Philadelphia Chronicle.

VENTRILOQUISM.

I had at first conjectured that in this man, a great part of the air driven out by expiration, did not issue from the mouth and nasal fossæ, but that, being swallowed, and carried down into the stomach, it struck against some part of the digestive tube, and produced a real echo; but, having since observed, with the greatest care, this curious phenomena in M. Fitz James, who exhibits it in the highest perfection, I have satisfied myself that the name of ventriloquism no ways suits it; since its whole mechanism consists in a slow, gradual, attenuated expiration, whether for that purpose the artist employ the power of the will upon the muscles of the parietes of the chest, or whether he holds the epiglottis slightly lowered, by means of the root of the tongue, of which he scarcely brings the point beyond the dental arches.

I find this long expiration always preceded by a strong inspiration, by means of which he introduces into his lungs a large quantity of air, of which he afterwards husbands the use. Accordingly, repletion of the stomach is a great hindrance to the action of M. Fitz James, by preventing the descent of the diaphgram which the chest would require, to dilate itself for the full quantity of air the lungs should receive.

By accelerating or retarding expiration, he can imitate different voices, make it seem that the speakers, in a dialogue, which he carries on by himself, stand at different distances, and produce illusion the more complete, the more perfect is his talent. No one equals M. Fitz James, in the art of deceiving, in this respect, the most wary and suspicious observer.

He can set his organ to five or six different tones, pass rapidly from one to the other, as he does when he represents a very eager discussion, in a popular society of the people, imitate the sound of a bell, and carry on, singly, a conversation, in which one might think that several persons, of different ages and sexes, were taking parts. But what completes the illusion, and especially distinguishes the art of the ventriloquist from that of the mimic, who can only counterfeit, consists in the power of so modulating his voice, that one is deceived as to the distance of the speaker, in such sort, that one voice comes from the street, another from a neighboring apartment, that from one that had clambered up the roof of the house, &c. It is easy to discern the value of such a talent in the days of oracles.

From the Baltimore American.

The Southern papers furnish accounts of an additional cause of excitement in Alabama. A conflict has arisen between the soldiery, acting under the orders of the Deputy Marshal, and the Courts of the State.—The circumstances are, that an indictment was found by the Grand Jury of Russell County against some of the soldiers for the shooting of Owens, and subpœnas issued for summoning other soldiers as witnesses.—Major M'Intosh, the commanding officer, refused to let them attend, upon which the Court issued its capias against the Major for contempt of Court, which has also been disregarded. The Court applied to Gov. Gayle to order out a sufficient portion of the militia to assist the Sheriff in arresting M'Intosh, the result of which is unknown.

How far the process for "contempt" is legal and available, we cannot say—but in all the previous circumstances, it seems to us that the soldiery are wrong, both under the law and under their own instructions. The act of Congress "establishing rules and regulations for the government of the army of the U. States," passed in 1806, declares that when any commissioned officer or soldier is accused of any offence against the person or property of a citizen, "punishable by the known laws of the land," the commanding officer, and officers of every regiment, troop, or company, to which the person or persons so accused shall belong, are required, "upon application duly made by or in behalf of the party or parties injured, to use their utmost endeavors to deliver over such accused person or persons to the civil magistrate, and likewise to be aiding and assisting to the officers of justice in apprehending and securing the person or persons accused, in order to bring him or them to trial."

The law would be inoperative, if, under the description of "aiding and assisting," it did not exclude the right to refuse testimony.

The instructions to the Marshal, heretofore published, are also imperative on the point. They order him to "submit to any legal process that may be served" on him, and likewise contain the following directions:

"If suits are instituted against you in any of the State Courts, for your proceeding in this matter, submit to the process without hesitation. Interpose not the slightest obstacle to its service. The U. States claim no special jurisdiction over the inhabitants of the ceded country. They only claim the right to remove them from the public land they occupy. The District Attorney will be instructed to remove to the Courts of the U. S., whenever it can legally be done, all suits instituted against you on this account, and there to conduct your defence, or if necessary, you will remove them yourself. He will be likewise instructed to defend you in the State Courts in those suits, if any there may be, which cannot be removed into the Courts of the U. States."

We cannot, for these reasons, but think that the Commanding officer transcends both his duties and his rights, in obstructing the operation of the laws of the State.

New Jersey Statistics—Gov. Seely has communicated a message to the Legislature of New Jersey which is spoken of as an able and interesting document. From an abstract, contained in the Newark Daily Advertiser, it appears that the finances of the State are in a sound condition, and his Excellency refers to the period as not distant, when the revenues, arising from the several great works of internal improvement now in progress, will defray all the expenses of government, and enable the legislature to augment the school fund. Additional buildings to the penitentiary were erecting, and a salutary regulation recommended, that public executions take place within the prison walls. The subject of education is adverted to, and the amount of the school fund, now only $231,000 is also recommended to be increased. In reference to the Deaf and Dumb, it is said that the annual appropriation of $2,000 is quite sufficient: the State, it appears, has thirteen pupils in the New York and Pennsylvania Institutions He recommends that the militia system be abolished. The agreement of the commissioners, appointed to settle the controversy with New York, respecting the boundaries between the State, is communicated with the Message, and receives its approbation.—Poulson.

A Great Establishment.—Messrs. J. & C. McDonald, in the village of Granonaque, Upper Canada, have now in active operation, a flouring mill, five stories high, sixty five feet by forty four, with five run of burr stones; a saw mill, with three sets of saws; a woollen factory, for carding, spinning, weaving, and cloth dressing; an establishment for making pails, wash tubs, and churns; a building for the manufacture of carding machines, chairs, hay rakes, scythe handles, &c. &c., and another for wagon, carriage, and sleigh making, grinding bark and rolling leather for a tannery, &c. &c.—all driven by water power. The grist mill, when in full work, can manufacture 180 barrels of flour per day, the average is said to be 150. At these mills 25,000 barrels of flour are usually manufactured annually, nearly all of which is disposed of at the Montreal and Quebec markets. The convenience of shipping is superior in the extreme, as steam boats, schooners, and barges can lie along side the mills, and have their cargoes of wheat discharged, and flour put on board with great expedition, the process of loading and unloading being also conducted by water power, by a simple but efficacious contrivance. At the saw mill about 12,000 feet are cut per day, and at the small woollen factory, about fifty yards of cloth are daily manufactured. Besides these establishments, two cooperages, at which about twenty hands are constantly occupied making barrels, are attached to the mills.—Nat. Gaz.

Two English gentlemen visited the field of Bannockburn, so celebrated for the total defeat of the English army, by Robert the Bruce. A country blacksmith pointed out the positions of both armies, the stone where Bruce's standard was fixed during the battle, &c. Highly satisfied with his attention, the gentlemen pressed his acceptance of a crown piece: 'Na, na,' said Vulcan, drawing himself up, and adding with emphasis, 'It has cost ye enough already.'

SCRAPS

FROM THE BOOK KEPT AT STRATFORD UPON AVON.

From the letter of a friend in London.

Among the various specimens of jeu d'esprits, written in the book kept at Stratford upon Avon, for registering the names of such persons as are daily visiting the room in which Shakspeare was born, are the following impromptus by some of our own countrymen:

Of mighty Shakspeare's birth the room we see,
That where he died in vain to find we try,*
Useless the search!—for all immortal he!
And those that are immortal never die!

WASHINGTON IRVING.

——"How many ages hence
Shall this, our lofty scene, be acted o'er,
In states unborn, and accents yet unknown?"

Shakspeare! thy name is reverenced no less
By us, who often reckon, sometimes guess:
Though England claims the glory of thy birth,
None more appreciate thy pages' worth,
Nor more admire thy scenes well acted o'er,
Than we, of "states unborn" in ancient lore.

JAMES H. HACKETT.

These were no sooner shown to our esteemed friend, Woodworth, than, with characteristic readiness, he added the three following. They are excellent.

Here wast thou born! Immortal Shakspeare!—Here!
"No matter where!"—thy fame is just as dear
To freemen on the mighty Hudson's side,
As where the Avon's crystal waters glide;
No town—no realm—no hemisphere can claim
A bard like thee, of universal fame!
As ancient Bethlehem had sure blasphemed,
To claim the glory of a world redeemed!

ANOTHER.

This little room the place of Shakspeare's birth!
Of him whose deathless glory fills the earth!
Perish the fiction!—that immortal mind,
By walls nor limits could not be confined;
'Twas born in heaven, and merely paused awhile,
To take a robe of flesh from Britain's isle.

ANOTHER.

Born in this room!—that I deny;
I'd life and honor pawn,
That one like him, who ne'er can die,
Could ever have been born!

*The house in which Shakspeare died has long since been pulled down.—N. Y. Mirror.

DIED,

Suddenly, on Wednesday evening last, (of a violent attack of Apoplexy, which terminated his existence in less than 30 minutes,) at his residence, in Somerset, Ohio, the Rev. JOHN F. MOELLER, the father of the editors of the 'Western Post,' aged upwards of sixty years.

The eventful and interesting life of the distinguished subject of this notice, and the large space he has usefully filled in society, seem to require something more than the bare annunciation of his departure.

The Rev. John F. Moeller was born at Graudentz, in the kingdom of Prussia, formerly belonging to Poland, on the 5th day of March, A. D. 1773, of respectable parents, who caused him to be well educated for the ministry in the Lutheran Church, at Kœnigsburg University, in Prussia.

After he had received his education, feeling an instinctive love of liberty, and desiring to enjoy its blessings, he emigrated to the United States in 1796, and settled at Fredericktown, in Maryland, where he resided three years. He presided over the German Lutheran Church in that place, and gained the affections of his Congregation in an eminent degree. About the year 1800, he was called to take charge of the Lutheran Church at Chambersburgh, in Pennsylvania, over which he presided, with singular ability and usefulness, for more than 27 years, highly respected, esteemed, and beloved. When of advanced age, and consulting his own health, which was fast declining under his arduous and responsible duties, (having had three other Congregations in this neighborhood,) and having a very numerous family to provide for, he emigrated to this place in August, 1829.—The amenity of his manners, and the integrity of his conduct here, as well as elsewhere, had gained for him the respect and attachment of the numerous circle of his extended acquaintances. He left a distressed widow and 16 children, who have the consolation that he met his sudden fate with the heroic firmness of an humble Christian. May he rest in peace.—Somerset (O.) Post.

The number of individuals who have received the title of Pope has been three hundred and fifty four—a long succession.

English Beer.—It is stated in an English publication that about thirty millions bushels of barley are annually converted into malt in G. Britain, and that more than eight millions barrels of beer are brewed. The extent of the manufacture in London may be inferred from the account we have of a vat in the brewery of one firm (Meux & Co.) which measured over 90 feet in circumference, and 22 height, and contained 3,556 barrels, or 128,016 gallons! Entertainments have been given by the great brewers to distinguished persons, in vats of this description.

If Judge McLean intends to be a candidate for the Presidentship, or if his friends intended to continue his nomination, we trust he may be induced to resign his seat on the Bench of the Supreme Court. There are almost insuperable objections to a Judge of the Supreme Court being a candidate for political distictnion.—Alex. Gaz.

The Great Pyramid of Egypt cost the labor of one hundred thousand men for twenty years, exclusive of those who prepared and collected the materials. The steam engines of England, worked by thirty six thousand men, would raise the same quantity of materials to the same height in eighteen hours.

Forty seven wild ducks, of the largest speices, called shags, were killed at a simultaneous shot, by Messrs Ebenezer and Jonathan Philips, sons of Mr. James Philips, all of this town, on Monday morning last, while the ducks were sitting on a rock. Those young archers were two of three who on a former occasion killed forty two ducks at a simultaneous shot; and one of the two killed, last winter, at a single shot seventeen ducks, which sold for one dollar and fifty sence the pair.—Lynn Record.

GETTING MARRIED.

Although the road is sometimes rough and steep,
Marriage is beyond all dubitation,
Particularly if the wife lives cheap,
Heaven asserted this at man's formation.
Adam accordingly was put to sleep
Better to bear the surgical operation
Of taking out a portion of his side,
Wherewith to manufacture him a bride.

Franklin views marriage as a pair of shears;
Making the wife thus equal with the man!
But this is giving to the little dears
A deal more flattery than I think I can,
Tho' they are such sweet soothers of our cares:
Yet by marriage there's doubtless an
Accession of importance from some source,
Is it the girl who brings it? Not of course.

'Tis thus: a man unmarried counts as one,
And any single woman goes for naught,
Yet if she will but let her heart be won,
And gets beside a husband, as she ought,
Her state of entity is then begun;
And each from other by this means has caught
A sort of ninefold consequence, as when
A unit and a cypher make up ten.

As to the article of wife, among
Men's tastes are various; some prefer a maid,
Others a widow, but a deal of tongue
Is for what few if any ever prayed;
But most concur in choosing one that's young;
The reason is that love's the only trade
Practised below here by us mortal creatures
In which the apprentices excel their teachers.

Some doat on fat, and some delight in lean,
This loves a large and that a very small;
Others again preserve a golden mean;
Some who have tried it once choose none at all,
Some give the preference to the smallest quean;
Such I should choose and not the thick and tall,
For fear, perhaps, in some unfriendly wrestle,
I, and not she, might prove the weaker vessel.

In the Diamond, next door to the office of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE features of some of these mummies are in perfect expression—the hair of the head preserved as if now living. For the direct purpose of giving visitors, of all descriptions, that wish to see the ancients themselves, and likewise the bodies that were embalmed not less than three thousand years ago, this collection was exhibited to a numerous concourse of visitors, in the city of Philadelphia, for the space of 3 months; and next in Baltimore, in the Museum, for five weeks, where contract was only made for two weeks, and continued for five weeks by request. The inhabitants of this city, it is hoped, will call, and patronize a collection worthy the attention of the curious.

The proprietor is authorized to use the names of the most eminent physicians and professors in the city of Philadelphia, and likewise that of Baltimore.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40

other lots, containing about 6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelpnia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county---and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others--- a soil rich and productive---the neighborhood abounding in coal---well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
